By WALTER M. BARRETT

In our small way we have attempted to point out the value of the state border checking stations in this column from time to time. Our two local legislators have battled diligently for their retention, realizing their worth from a standpoint of income as well as a law enforcement unit, but the powers that be have not listened or if they have have discounted all our arguments for the sake of policy, politics, or as they are want to say "economy." We are offering one more plea, but from the present outlook, the stations are soon to go, Truckee, among other towns losing a valuable asset and the state losing a fine governmental unit.

In trimming the fire district budget for this year, the commissioners have accomplished a saving for the taxpayers and at the same time are retaining the high standard of fire protection to which Truckee has become accustomed during the past years. The new equipment is all paid for, the department has been modernized and made more efficient, insurance rates have been lowered and above all a degree of surety has been established. We believe the commissioners as well as the department are accomplishing a fine job one worthy of the praise of the community they serve.

Another truck went off the grade from Donner Summit this week. Fortunately, the driver escaped, but the accident again calls attention to the need for an adequate guard rail along the steep embankment. Other sections of the highway have been well protected by fences and rails, a good job and a credit to the department, but we would like to see this work carried a bit further and the badly needed guards placed on the highway down the summit road. Incidentally, the new white lines on local highways are a boon to the drivers and no doubt will result in preventing mishaps and make driving more enjoyable.

Lower Tax On Fire District Is Seen In Budget

Efficient Service Will Be Maintained Despite Reduction

TRUCK NOW PAID FOR

Commissioners Fix Cost Of Operation Of District At $3031

Representing a slash of ten cents per $100 assessed valuation, the local fire district commissioners last week submitted their tentative budget for the fiscal year to the board of supervisors asking an appropriation of $3031 to carry on the work of the district. This figure compares with an expenditure of $3814.37 last year, according to Commissioner F. W. Gaiennie.

The reduction was made possible, Gaiennie said, by the fact that the new fire truck is completely paid out with the final payment of $589 being made last year.

The heaviest expense budgeted this year is for water service which costs the district $1200 a year.

Other expenditures include $500 proposed for new hose, $300 for upkeep and repair to the fire station, $300 for insurance and $530 for salaries and wages for firemen and other workmen.

The assessment of 70 cents for the past year will be reduced to 60 this year, with additional service being maintained and equipment replaced as needed.

Incidental costs anticipated for the year are lights and telephone $50, operating expense for the truck $50 and the election this coming year, $50.

VISITING MOTORISTS ADVISED TO GET STATE GUEST CARD

With the summer touring season at its height, an unusually heavy influx of vacationists from other states to California is reported by Border Checking Stations. These visitors are cautioned by the National Automobile Club to procure a "Visitor's Permit" within ten days after their arrival in California. This permit allows the operation of the vehicle, if properly registered in the home state, to operate on the highways of California until the end of the current year, or until the expiration of the home state registration. There is no charge for this permit which can be obtained, up until the closing date, at Border Checking Stations and thereafter at Highway Patrol cars. National Automobile Club is also authorized to issue these permits.

OLD RULE APPLIES TO LOCAL SHOW AS FILMS HERE BY AIR

The show must go on.

This old rule which has been applied to theaters for many generations is just as significant to Manager Verne Shattuck of the Sierra Theater Circuit as it ever was.

Monday, when films for the Tahoe Theater failed to arrive on schedule, Shattuck got busy on the telephone and after numerous calls to various cities, located the films in San Francisco. Too late for them to reach here by the usual method, an airplane was chartered and the pictures were flown to Truckee, arriving here shortly before 6 p. m. and were rushed by auto to King's Beach where the show, "The Hound of the Baskervilles," was enjoyed without a break in routine.

GOVERNOR'S OFFICE FIXED UP

SACRAMENTO, July 13 —(UP)—Painters and carpenters giving California's 70-year-old Capitol Building a face lifting furnished practically the only stir in the functioning of state departments during the past week.

The entire Capitol is getting an interior paint job and the Governor's office is being completely remodeled—a move appropriately matching other changes inaugurated by the New Democratic administration.

During the three months necessary to complete the $50,000 project, Gov. Culbert L. Olson will have no office space in Sacramento, but he won't be inconvenienced since the plans to transact all official business from state buildings in San Francisco and Los Angeles. Members of the Governor's staff were moved into legislative committee rooms on the fourth floor of the Capitol Building.

TRUCKEE

The Recreational Center Of the SIERRA

The order does not effect the plant quarantine stations operated by the state department of agriculture.

Registrar of Vehicles Howard Deems, who ordered the stations to close said the move was demanded by Frank W. Clark, acting director of motor vehicles, as an administration "economy" plan, the cost of operating the seven stations being estimated at $68,000 and employing 32 men.

Many sound arguments have been advanced to show the worthiness of the stations to the state as a whole, from the fact they are self supporting to the more important function of apprehending criminals and restoring stolen property.

While the administration contends the closing of the stations and elimination of the 32 men now gainfully employed is for the sake of economy, John W. Dunlap, staff correspondent for the United Press, has sized the situation up nicely as follows:

After coming out second best in a six-months tussle with the legislature, Governor Culbert Olson is now getting in few licks of his own where they will do the most good.

For instance, the department of motor vehicles has announced that highway patrol border stations, the branch offices and temporary registration offices in 25 cities will be closed. Reason for the economy program, according to Acting Director Frank W. Clark is a $1,500,000 cut made by the legislature in the department's budget.

Quite significantly, however, most of the 25 cities are located in districts of legislators who aligned themselves with the economy bloc or other wise opposed Olson's policies.

Olson's executive secretary, George Killion, revealed the governor's office has received dozens of telegrams from businessmen and chambers of commerce in the affected cities. In each case, he said, letters have been written advising that the person objecting to closing the local office take the matter up with his senator or assemblyman.

An added note not being mentioned in administration circles these days is that Director of Public Works, Clark, who runs the motor vehicle department as a side line, asked for a reduced budget during the first few weeks of the legislature.

During the rush of getting the new democratic regime under way there were a few signals crossed and Clark told the senate committee on governmental efficiency there were "hundreds of unnecessary employees in the motor vehicle department," stating that unit of state government did not need an increased budget.

Instead of having the effect of discrediting management of the department by former republican administration, the statements greatly embarrassed Governor Olson when he presented his record high budget—including a request for a million dollar increase for the motor vehicle department.

The legislature cut the department from $14,493,000 to $12,909,000 and as a result Clark is in the uncomfortable position of having to order "drastic economies" in the face of his earlier statement that the department could do nicely, thank you, on less money.

CAN IT BE POLITICS?

This paper is a subscriber to the service of the United Press and in one of this week's issues of that service we found two items of interest to us. One of them told of closing the border registration stations in seven California communities, including Truckee. The Governor's office desired "economy." The saving was $66,000 a year. The other item was about the remodeling of the Governor's private office at the nominal sum of $50,000.

The Governor's office, one would surmise, is in shambles. The plaster is falling off the walls. The varnish is off the furniture and oil paper covers the broken panes in the window. Well, Californians, that is not the picture. Our Governor is in one the finest offices we have ever visited. It's just that his excellency objects to the old fashioned lines of the office just as he apparently abhors the old fashioned definition of "economy."

The checking stations, which have been closed, have repaid to the State of California many times $66,000 a year. They have apprehended many desperate criminals who have made their way through one police dragnet after another from Maine to the border stations of California—and no farther. They have been the sentinels for California against the invasion of undesirables. They have performed yeoman service to the state and yet, in the face of increased administrative salaries, in the face of his expensive capitol changes, in the face of demands for money, money and more money, the administration, in direct opposition to the people's legislature, is closing one of our main avenues of revenue.

Blind indeed must be the eyes that cannot see the advantages of the border stations. Daily examples of their benefit to the state are on record for all to see. The revenue derived is sorely needed. The men on the jobs need those jobs. The Legislature voted down measures designed to eliminate the stations. And yet, in spite of all these things, word comes that the stations must go. We might well ask, 'WHY?'

It is easy to point to the saving of $66,000 a year. That may be made to sound like a huge sum, but compare it with the money being asked (or should we say demanded?) and which must come from the taxpayers of the state and not from automobile caravans, out-of-state truckers, competing with local concerns, and those who can, in the future, easily avoid paying the California license fee, heretofore collected and turned in to state channels by the checking stations.

We ask for an answer. Can it be politics?

Operators at the Truckee station declare that more than $10,000 has been collected already this year at the one station. That is a small sum in comparison to the hundreds of thousands of dollars being juggled about in a careless fashion but it at least goes toward the support of the men in charge of the station and who are being made jobless. It seems almost ridiculous that in times when the hue and cry is more money for relief that the state should lead in abolishing jobs—jobs which have been found of vital necessity to the welfare of the people and especially such rare jobs that mean revenue to the coffers of the state.

Ours is only a small voice but we raise it as loud as we can in protest against the removal of the stations. We were told by Mr. Clark that he did not want to eliminate the stations. We have a right to know why he changed his mind.

POLITICALLY SPEAKING

by JOHN W. DUNLAP
United Press Staff Correspondent

SACRAMENTO, July 13 —(UP)—Gov. Culbert L. Olson had as difficult a situation to face in connection with the $30-Every-Thursday election as ever beset a politician and today seemed to be in the dog-house with both camps.

In the long run, however, capitol observers feel that the Governor disposed of the exceedingly ticklish situation as nimbly, as possible under the circumstances.

Olson drew the cheers of the pension group, but was bitterly condemned by conservatives when he first announced several weeks ago that he would call a special election on the "Ham and Eggs" plan which was defeated only last November at the general election.

Then when the Governor finally set Nov. 7 for the election a few days ago, he incurred the wrath of the 30-Thursday movement by coming out flatly against the plan, stating he didn't believe it would work and possibly would be unconstitutional.

With the latter action, however, many people who had criticized his action in calling the election at all commended his positive stand against the proposed constitutional amendment.

And leaders of the Retirement Life Payments Assn, sponsors of the pension scheme, sought to swing the coming campaign away from an attack on the Governor and focus it directly on issues of the election. There were threats from the pension ranks of an attempt to recall the Governor, but Willis Allen, a leader of the movement, cautioned his followers against such a diversion of their efforts from the original goal of $30 a week.

Olson has probably lost permanently the support of a large group which was instrumental in bringing about his election—those who thought he was in favor of the pension amendment during the gubernatorial campaign. This could have been expected eventually in any case, since the Governor had not at any time actually supported the proposal but had merely straddled the fence—accepted political procedure—while he was running for office.

One routine item is that the taxpayers will be billed for about $700,000 whether or not the plan carries. This is the amount which the Secretary of State's office estimates the special election will cost California's 58 counties. The state pays only for printing the official voters' pamphlet, which will run about $35,000.

Although the legislature decided there would be no automatic salary increases, called for by the State Civil Service Act, during the next two years, the fight is not over yet. It's just another one of those cases where the legislature does something, then returns two years later to find that despite the lawmakers the Governor and his various departments can do pretty much as they please.

In this case, the legislature's economy bloc chopped $15,400,000 from Governor Olson's 1939-41 budget, specifying that there was to be a moratorium on salary raises during the biennium. The Hays bill, which would have written the restriction into law however was stymied in an Assembly committee.

Officials of the American Federation of State, County and Municipal Workers now argue that these raises are mandatory under the law and that "nothing prevents the head of a state agency from using available funds for the meritorious purpose of salary increases rather than for travel allowance, new personnel or some other purpose."

A check with the Department of Finance bears out this contention, (Continued on Page FIVE)

TAHOE COMMUNITY CENTER HAS DRIVE FOR NEW MEMBERS

TAHOE CITY, July 13—Tahoe Community Center is having a membership campaign, the funds from which will be used to reduce the indebtedness on the fine Community Center Building. It has been reduced to around $2,000, from the original cost of close to $7,000 in one year since it was built in 1938. The building has proved to be a major asset to the community, housing as it does the Post Office, the library and an upstairs meeting and recreation hall.

When the debt is paid in full, money collected will be diverted to the improvement of the yard, further improving Tahoe Commons, establishing playgrounds or for other worthwhile community projects.

Two important meetings to be held at Tahoe next week are the Lake Tahoe Sierra Association to be held at Glenbrook on July 19 and the meeting of the Tahoe Community Center, to be held in the Community Center Building on Monday, July 17, at 8 p. m.

Reports of a vacation bible school to be held at Tahoe during the third week in July under the American Sunday School Union are being circulated here.

Ill-Starred Mystery Boat As Yet Unreported After Strange Sinking Off Shore

TAHOE CITY, July 13—Unverified reports of the sinking of a boat in the lake off Crystal Bay last Saturday were given credence at the north end of the lake Tuesday by the account of an eye witness.

Louis Kastl of Kings Beach said that he saw the sinking in the company of the caretaker of the Norman Biltz estate. Kastl stated that when he was working on a car at the Biltz home Saturday morning at 10 a. m., a party of tourists came rushing down calling his attention to a boat about three hundred yards out which was sinking. Telephone calls to Brockway and the Spencer Grant home brought out search boats but no trace of the ill-fated vessel could be found. No oil floated and no floating material could be found.

NO SERIOUS MISHAP MARS 1939 RUNNING

TAHOE CITY, July 13—A crowd of approximately two thousand people thronged the Tahoe Tavern pier Sunday for the annual Lake Tahoe Regatta, sponsored by the Tahoe Yacht Club was conducted. No major mishaps marred the day's racing as last year.

R. Stanley Dollar, Jr., was successful in the defense of his title as the No. 1 Lake speedster. In the five-lap championship race he placed first in a 600 horsepower Packard hydroplane job, "Miss Golden Gate," in ten minutes and fifty-seven seconds. Henry J. Kaiser's "Lemme Go First" placed second and "Hey There," Edwin Letts Oliver's entry, came in third.

In the Stephens class "Constance II" owned by Gordon Lacy placed first and "Blanche G," Spencer Grant, and "Florence M," J. Carroll Skinner, placed first and second in that order. Winning time for the Lacy boat was 9:36.

In the 225 h. p. class "T. E. A.", owned by T. E. A. Anderson, won in 8 min. and 11 sec. and Frank Fuller's unchristened Chris Craft was second.

The 300 h. p. race was won by "Hey There IV", with "Lemme Go First" second and "Tecolote" third. Winning time was 7:02.

In the Bang and Go Back Race, "Blanche G", "Tecolote", and "Florence M" finished in that order. Time 1:54.

The handicap was won by "Florence M" with "Ranjac" (Randolf Walker), "Blanche G", and "Tecolote" trailing in that order.

The Green Relay team, consisting of "Lady Constance", Fuller's boat, and "Tecolote", won the relay event in 8:26.

Champion Dollar arrived on the course one minute before the running of the championship event. He had just completed many long hours of grueling work to get his new boat tuned up. On the backstretch of the race, the Dollar boat threw a board thirty feet in the air. The veteran racer, however, finished first but had to be towed to dock.

Lou Fageol, who was seriously injured in last year's regatta, was not entered this year.

Frank Fuller and Wellington Herrington flew up from San Francisco for the regatta.

One of the finest trophies presented at the Regatta was an electric clock, in the form of a ship's clock, was awarded by J. P. Obexer of Homewood for the Gar Wood race.

If the Administration's new $3,800,000,000 lending - spending program fails to Congressional approval before adjournment, it will be because the star in the cast didn't let the supporting cast in on the rehearsals. The supporting cast here is the Congress.

What happened is that the Administration had the program quietly drafted by Brain Trusters Corcoran and Cohen, and neither of them consulted Congressional leaders. In fact, three Congressional groups was not even informed the bill was being written. So it was that the newspapermen covering the White House knew all the details of the new program before Vice-President Garner, Speaker Bankhead or House Majority Leader Rayburn knew such a program existed.

stolen property as well as furnishing points where criminals can be apprehended before they cross our State lines.

I realize that a great portion of the revenue obtained reverts to other sources, but even so that money helps defray local county and city costs that would have to be borne by local confusion property taxpayers. I appreciate your judgment in considering this an economy move, which it is as far as the State is concerned, but is it as far as the general tax burden is concerned when we consider it from all viewpoints?

The automobile clubs of California have for a long time tried, along with the State Chamber of Commerce, to have these checking stations abolished. I have been unable to date to coincide with their reasoning because I am of the opinion their efforts have been put forth purely on a selfish basis and not in the interest of the general public. I say this with no direct criticism as to their purpose for their policies have always been to eliminate any inconvenience to the motoring public, which in my estimation could be applied to all State laws affecting motor vehicles, and the State should discount their proposal in the interest of the general good of the most concerned.

I sincerely trust you will rescind your order and permit the checking service to continue, and I am sure the results will warrant and support your judgment should you revoke the closing order.

Sincerely yours,

Cravat at Hollypark for Gold Cup Classic

Townsend B. Martin's Cravat, champion of eastern handicap ranks, eyes the $50,000 added Hollywood Gold Cup Handicap on July 22 upon his arrival at streamlined Hollywood Park, Inglewood. Insets show Owner Martin and Cravat's regular rider, jockey Jack Westrop. Western turf fans will be out in full force Saturday, July 8, at the Inglewood track to witness the second running of the $25,000 Hollywood Derby.

So well did the drafters Corcoran and Cohen think their program for spending nearly four billion more dollars that they wrote it into a formal bill of more than 100 pages. When this was dumped in the laps of the Congressional leaders the yelping could be heard on all sides of the Capitol.

The upshot was that the Capitol leaders refused to introduce the bill. They pointedly told the Brain Trusters that they had made too many unpardonable mistakes in the past—and that apparently some mistakes were being revived and put into the new bill.

First, they pointed out, the emphasis should have been placed on "lending" instead of "spending" in the bill; second, the farmers would not be enthusiastic about toll roads and bridges (nothing would bring the tax question closer to the farmer than to have to reach for his pocket-book while on the way to town with chickens, eggs, butter, etc.); third, the superhighways would simply provide better roads for trucks and thereby put the already staggering railroads out of business; and fourth, the Capitol crowd said they just couldn't see any "sex appeal" in the new scheme.

There was even a suggestion from the White House that the new spending scheme be attached as a "rider" to the relief bill. This, the Brain Trust advisory corps reasoned, would assure its passage because the relief bill was certain to pass. To this, the Congressional leaders let out another yelp. They warned that the relief bill itself was loaded with political dynamite, and the spending bill should be left to stand on its own feet. That was done and now it appears that there will be more furor than legislation on the spend-lend subject—all because the supporting cast was not let in on the signals.

Incidentally, Congress is considering creating a "brain trust" of its own to "protect Congress from the other brain trust." A bill now on its way to enactment, would give each leader a research assistant. The assistant would be given the job of analyzing and condensing bills and committee testimony. Reason is that legislative proposals coming from the

FOREST FIRE LOSSES GREAT IN STATE AS MOISTURE LACKING

SACRAMENTO, July 13 —(UP)—Abnormally dry weather in the state has boosted the cost of timber, grass and brush fires to 14 times the damage reported last year in areas protected by the Division of Forestry, division officials revealed this week.

Until June 1, property worth $47,550 was reported destroyed by fire in counties cooperating with the division the report stated. The total for the same period of 1938 was only $3,127.11 and in 1937, $7,382.

Subnormal rainfall which is approaching the record set in 1931 was blamed for the increase by Sydney Lammerton, Chief Forestry Dispatcher. He named dry winds, low humidity, thunderstorms and high temperatures as contributing factors. The 839 fires reported in the first five months of the year destroyed timber worth $2,026; range, $5,271; hay and grain, $22,876 and improvements, $17,378.

Kind words about a businessman are so seldom heard around Washington that a word of praise in that direction is newsworthy. It is significant, too, because it indicates a new trend of thought—that the businessman isn't such a bad guy as he's portrayed and that it is about time to get him out of the dog house. That trend is detected now in Congress, where, several times recently, there have been kind words for business and stares at the administration accusers. Here is the latest to emanate from the Capitol. It is part of a report drafted by a special Senate Committee which has been studying profit-sharing methods in industry. "In the midst of a tendency generally to condemn private business as selfish and reactionary and unsympathetic, the committee takes pleasure in pointing to the accompanying record as proving that there has been a vast, voluntary experimentation in various types of profit-sharing which demonstrates the existence of widespread social-mindedness in American business and this fact deserves the emphasis we give it."

Choral Group Has Stunt Program; Need For More Bass Singers Is Emphasized

TAHOE CITY, July 13—Tahoe Choral Club gave a stunt night program on Wednesday, July 5, where each member had to contribute a number.

Mrs. Emory Beauvais sang several Irish ballads, Mrs. Ed Haugen gave as a vocal solo "My Old Kentucky Home", Mrs. Tejas Edyards played Chopin's "Etude" on the piano, Carmen Fox sang "Neapolitan Nights", Charles Worsham rendered a tenor solo and encore with "My Little Gray Home in the West" and "Short-nin' Bread", Barney Morrow gave "The Sidewalks of New York" as a mandolin solo, Tejas Edwards sang "I'll Forget You" by Charles Ball. As final feature Harley Groves of the State Fish Hatchery ran off several reels of colored movies on the Tallac and Tahoe hatcheries in the winter and pictures showing the complete process of the taking of spawn.

The membership of the society is growing rapidly but the directors say that there is always room for another good voice, especially if it bass.

Malcolms Make Record Catches With 2 Giant Mackinaw From Pier

TAHOE CITY, July 13—Major and Mrs. Jack Malcolm, veteran fishing couple of Tahoe City, last week broke all standing fishing records on the north end of the lake. On Friday he landed a huge pink-flesh Mackinaw weighing slightly over twenty pounds, deep line trolling off Walker's reef, the largest yet this season. On Sunday Mrs. Malcolm, just to keep the record in the family, brought in another monster Mackinaw, tipping the scales at well over 22 pounds and measuring 33½ inches in length and 21½ inches in girth. This one was also caught in the same manner, in the same place and using a live minnow for bait. Malcolm has brought in around sixty fine fish from the lake since the season opened and Mrs. Malcolm has also made quite a few nice catches. Copper line at about 250 feet is used by the Malcolms.

Guests were the honoree, Mrs. N. J. Lindenfield, Miss Vi Lindenfield, Mrs. M. Parquette, Mrs. Fred Kehlet, Mrs. Lella Hosford, Mrs. George Kehlet, Sr., Mrs. Mabel Derhold, Mrs. Anna Stewart and Mrs. Floyd Carnell.

STATE FAIR DEFENDS NATIONAL TITLE IN SEPTEMBER SHOW

SACRAMENTO, July 13 —(UP)—The California State Fair, for the first time, will defend its position as the No. 1 state fair in America at its annual showing September 1 through 10.

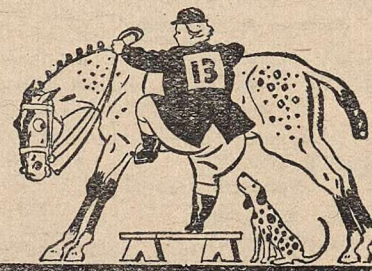

A challenger heretofore, the 85th California State Fair will seek to hold its title after establishing a national 10-day record in 1938 with an attendance of 637,682.

On July 13, the Board of Directors will make final arrangements for the State's 1939 display of wealth. The livestock division is preparing for exhibits for breeders from various states other than those of California, also a number of county exhibits that will show some 228 of California's economic crops are being prepared and rushed to completion.
